

I disagree that teachers pensions should be taxed. There are only 4 other states in the country who tax the pensions and CT is one of them. The state of CT is one of the highest state to pay taxes. Many retired people have to leave the state when they retire because they can't afford the high taxes. So in fact the state is actually losing money by pushing retirees out of the state. We want people to stay in CT so that they can pay taxes. Otherwise people leave the state and move to places where the taxes are eliminated or less expensive. So I am against taxing teachers pensions in CT.

Patricia Cardoza
North Branford CT